

Special Issue edited by INTALInC-LAC

INTALInC LAC | 2024

Accessibility Turn in Urban Research: Policy Implications from Latin America and the Global South

INTALInC-LAC continues the editorial work on the Special Issue in the Journal Area Development and Policy "Accessibility Turn in Urban Research: Policy Implications from Latin America and the Global South".

Two of the articles to be included in this Special Issue have been already published online first.

Check them out!

Júlio Celso Borello Vargas, Ben Spencer & Tim Jones (2024) Understanding accessibility as lived experience: the case of walking and cycling in Porto Alegre, Brazil, Area Development and Policy, DOI: 10.1080/23792949.2023.2290155

Ignacio Tiznado Aitken, Giovanni Vecchio, Rodrigo Mora, Lucaz Gonzalez & Catalina Marshall (2023) Planning for accessibility: the divide between research and policy in the promotion of equitable mobility, Area Development and Policy, DOI: 10.1080/23792949.2023.2261530

Omkar Deepak Karmarkar, Arnab Jana & Nagendra R. Velaga (2024) Regional accessibility impacts of integrating high-speed railway and conventional rail: spatial analysis of the Mumbai Ahmedabad region, India, Area Development and Policy, DOI: 10.1080/23792949.2024.2312268

